Video Integrations is an accomplished video production company, having been established since 1995, when digital video and non-linear editing was in it's advent. Our services range digital video and audio pre/post editing, videography, multimedia productions, graphics, web hosting, and website interface design and development. With our expertise, no video production is too difficult and we can make projects look professional on various budgets. Videography is done using professional digital equipment with the ability to deliver on any media type. Quality video and audio, multimedia, or web design can be produced integrating previous media, your logo, special effects, utilizing compositing, color correction, sound enhancement, or other requirements you may have.
